LETTER FROM HON. JOSIAH QUINCY TO MR. LINCOLN.—We copy below a letter from the venerable Josiah Quincy of Boston to President Lincoln, which appears in the New York Post with the following explanatory preface:

"This letter, a copy of which, in the firm and clear handwriting of its author, we have seen, was not intended for the public eye, and it has been acknowledged, as we are told, by Mr. Lincoln, in terms of the most frank and cordial nature. We believe that we violate no rule of propriety in laying it before the public, which we have done after consultation with some of Mr. Quincy's friends. There is nothing in it which is otherwise than highly honorable to both him and the eminent personage to whom it is addressed, and the subject is of such universal interest, and is treated in such a manner, that few will dissent from the judgment which we have formed, that the public have a right to read it now, instead of waiting for its appearance in historic form. One of its remarkable characteristics is the hopeful and confident tone in which it speaks of the eventful victory of the cause of the United States Government. Age is ordinarily timid and desponding, but the age of Mr. Quincy has all the cheerful courage of a vigorous manhood.

"Hon. Abraham Lincoln: Sir: Old age has its privileges, which I hope this letter will not exceed. But I cannot refrain from expressing to you my gratification and my gratitude for your letter to the Illinois Convention; happy, timely, conclusive and effective. What you say concerning emancipation, your proclamation and your course of proceeding in relation to it, was due to truth and your own character—shamefully assailed as it has been. The development is an imperishable monument of wisdom and virtue.

Negro slavery and the possibility of emancipation have been subjects of my thought for more than seventy years; being first introduced to it by the debates in the convention of Massachusetts for adopting the Constitution in 1788, which I attended. I had subsequently opportunities of knowing the views on that subject, not only of such men as Hamilton, King, Jay and Pickering, but also of distinguished slaveholders—of both the Pickneys, of Wm. Smith of South Carolina, and of many others. With the first of these I had personal intercourse and acquaintance. I can truly say that I never knew the individual, slaveholder or non-slaveholder, who did not express a detestation of it, and the desire and disposition to get rid of it. The only difficulty, in case of emancipation, was; what shall we do for the master, and what shall we do with the slave? A satisfactory answer to both these questions has been, until now, beyond the reach and the grasp of human wisdom and power.

Through the direct influence of a good and gracious God, the people of the United States have been invested with the power of answering satisfactorily both these questions, and also of providing for the difficulties incident to both, of which, if they fail to avail themselves, thoroughly and conclusively, they will entail shame on themselves and sorrow and misery on many generations.

It is impossible for me to regard the power thus granted to this people otherwise than as proceeding from the direct influence of a superintending Providence, who ever makes those mad whom he intends to destroy.

The only possible way in which slavery, after it had grown to such hight, could have been abolished, is that which heaven has adopted.

Your instrumentality in the work is to you a subject of special glory, favor and felicity. The madness of secession and its inevitable consequence, civil war, will, in their result give the right and the power of universal emancipation sooner or later. If the United States do not understand and fully appreciate the boon thus bestowed on them, and fail to improve it to the utmost extent of the power granted, they will prove recreant to themselves and posterity.

I write under the impression that the victory of the United States in this war is inevitable.

Compromise is impossible. Peace on any other basis would be the establishment of two nations, each hating the other, both military, both necessarily hostile, their territories interlocked, with a tendency to never-ceasing hostility. Can we leave to posterity a more cruel inheritance, or one more hopeless of happiness or prosperity?

Pardon the liberty I have taken in this letter, and do not feel obliged in any way to take notice of it; and believe me,

Ever your grateful and obliged servant,
JOSIAH QUINCY.

Quincy, Sept. 7, 1863."

Rebel Refugees.

It is a singular fact says the Baltimore Clipper that the President and probably by this time two-thirds of his rebel cabinet at Richmond, may be literally said to have no home in the respective States from which they originally hailed on coming to Richmond. Jeff. Davis cannot reach his home in Mississippi, for it is in possession of our army; his Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Maliory, is in a like predicament, Florida being encircled by the loving embrace of the Union army or navy; Reagan, of Texas, Post Master General, has no means of reaching his home, as he would have to pass through our lines, and if by going by the way of Havana and Mexico, he should attempt to get home through some port on the Rio Grande, he will probably find Gen. Banks there ready to receive him. Mr. Mellinger, of South Carolina, the erudite Secretary of the Treasury, if he should attempt to reach his home in Charleston, would probably find that city a little too hot for him, for we think it very probable that by this time Gilmore has been sending more of his "Greek fire" among the chivalry of that rebel city. We do not remember what section of the old Dominion Mr. Seldon, the Secretary of War, comes from but as nearly two-thirds of the State is under our control, it is possible his old residence may not be altogether accessible to him. Mr. Benjamin, the hangman of the State Department would find his old quarters at New Orleans rather uncomfortable for him, notwithstanding there may not be a Butler in command. Thus we find "an independent state," the heads of which are without a local habitation, being outcasts from the very States which they seduced to commit the traitorous deed of passing acts of secession, and of seizing upon the property and munitions of war of the nation whose laws and constitution they had sworn to support, whose pay they were receiving at the time, and about whose Senate chamber they were still hanging, the better to fulfill all the mischief in their power until their States had made the final leap into rebellion and chaos. A terrible retribution has reached them, and a yet more terrible one is in store for them, if they do not in the meantime follow in the footsteps of Floyd, and Tyler, and Twiggs, and Van Dorn, and other worthies of the same character, who have gone to give an account of themselves to another than an earthly judge.

☞ Says Daniel S. Dickinson, "Weal pie," said Mr. Weller, junior, "is wery good, if you know the woman as made it, and is sure it aint kittens." Democracy, too, is a most excellent sentiment, and inculcates many sublime truths, but it is well enough to take heed at whose hands you receive it, and be reasonably certain that there are no claws beneath its tempting covering of pastry.

Doubtful Position of a Cabinet Officer.

Ever since Postmaster General Blair made a speech at Concord, denouncing a large class of loyal men—a speech that a couple of weeks later was quoted approvingly by Franklin Pierce—we have looked upon him as one not well calculated to encourage harmony in the ranks of those who are doing their utmost to sustain the President in his efforts to crush out a wicked rebellion and to restore the authority of the government over every foot of our soil.

Mr. Blair has recently made another speech, which is being copied and approved by the copperhead papers of the free states, and we should not be surprised to learn that it was having a wide circulation in Ohio to promote the interests of Vallandigham. We undertake to say that this speech—if the extracts we have seen from it are correctly reported—is a condemnation of those who have done the most to uphold the Government, and who are now the most active and reliable supporters of the administration.

Ostensibly it is aimed at radical abolitionists, but in fact it would strike down not only those who have heretofore been included in that class, but our most efficient Generals in the field, our most influential and patriotic statesmen, and seven-eighths of those in Maine who have just rolled up nearly 20,000 majority for the Union cause. It is quite enough to awaken the deepest feeling of surprise on the part of loyal men, to find a member of the cabinet under an administration of their election and supporting, complimented by such a disunion sheet as the Eastern Argus, and claimed as endorser for the views and opinions heretofore put forth by that organ of treason in disparagement of the true men of the north.

To show who Mr. Blair includes under his comprehensive term of "abolitionists," it is enough to say that he holds up the Wasnington Chronicle, the St. Louis Democrat, and the Atlantic Monthly as their representative organs. The Chronicle is owned and controlled by Col. Forney, Secretary of the U. S. Senate, and is the leading loyal paper at the federal capital, and enjoys the general confidence of the Republican party of the nation. The St. Louis Democrat is the leading loyal paper west of the Mississippi, and represents the great emancipation controlling party of Missouri. It is enough to state that it has no sympathy for the singular recent course of Frank P. Blair, jr., to explain the probable reason why it has fallen under the ban of his brother of the cabinet. The Atlantic Monthly is well known to represent the best class of New England minds, and to reflect the sentiments of the loyal people of one of the most loyal sections of the entire North.

Those who have read the last number of the Atlantic are aware, that an able article is therein published from the pen of Mr. Sumner, in which he has discussed at length the relations of the federal government to the seceded states. Mr. Sumner insists, that for the President, as Commander-in-Chief, to have the full control of ten or a dozen states and to govern them through officers of his own appointment, is not in accordance with the spirit of our constitution, and is not what Jefferson understood by making the military subordinate to the civil power. He insists that, with an ambitious and designing man at the head of the Government, such a state of things would be a long stride towards Military Dictatorship, and would be the very step that a bad man would seize upon to accomplish such a purpose. Mr. Sumner believes, while necessity requires the President to appoint a Military Governor and to take the control of a rebellious state into his own hands, that this necessity can exist only for the most temporary purposes, and as soon as may be the civil power should resume control. To this end he argues that Congress should provide for the temporary administration of government in such states, thus substituting civil authority, provided by Congress, for the Military authority necessarily called into requisition by the President. He believes the Representatives of the people, fresh from the people, and representing all sections of the country, better qualified to provide laws for the administration of justice and the maintenance of order in an insurgent state than the will of a single man, and morever he believes such a course more in harmony with the institutions of a country which do not rest upon the will of an individual sovereign, but upon the aggregate or majority will of the sovereign people.

It is this article from Mr. Sumner's pen upon which Mr. Blair makes specific war, it forming the text of his bitter and most singular speech. With this definition, we are now prepared to give a few extracts to show the animus of this cabinet officer, whose stump speeches seem to command the general approbation of that class of doubtful politicians who are constantly abusing such men as the Vice President, our U. S. senators and the generals in the army, for presuming to express their opinions on the stump in relation to the affairs of the country. Mr. Blair says:

> The Abolition party, whilst pronouncing phillippics against slavery, seek to make a caste of another color by amalgamating the black element with the free white labor of our land, and so to expand far beyond the present confines of slavery the evil which makes it obnoxious to republican statesmen. and now, when the strength of the traitors who attempted to embody a power out of the interest of slavery to overthrow the Government, is seen to fail, they would make the manumission of the slaves the means of infusing their blood into our whole system by blending with it 'amalgamation, equality and fraternity.'

Here is a pretty slander for an officer high in the Government to perpetrate against seven-eighths of the very men to whom he is indebted for his position. This man, born and raised in the midst of negro slavery, which has degraded labor till a white man in its overshadowing influence drops the working tools of honest toil, and becomes either a lordly owner of slaves or a component part of the "poor white trash" of the South, maligns and slanders the people of the North—the laboring millions of our free States—who in their souls despise slavery and would gladly see it wiped out forever, and charging them with desiring amalgamation of races and of blood! Did such language come from an ordinary pro-slavery politician, it would be branded as it deserves; but coming from a cabinet officer, we suppose it must be treated with excessive courtesy. It will be a long day before any member of the Blair family will succeed in making the people believe that he has a higher regard for the free laborer, or a better appreciation of his rights than such men as Sumner, and others whom he traduces.

Mr. Blair refers to the St. Louis Democrat as the "ultra abolisher of Fremont graft," &c. This fling at Fremont is characteristic. When Gen. Fremont first took command of the Department of the West, it was at the solicitation of the Blairs. They were his special friends, and having secured his position in that Department, no doubt they felt that he was under special obligations to follow their lead and to shower favors upon such pets as should present themselves with their cards of introduction and with their special recommendation. It is known how Fremont was treated. It is matter of history how summarily he was relieved of his command at the very moment victory seemed within his grasp. It is known how suddenly the Blair influence was turned against him. It is alleged that this sudden turn in their friendship and favor was because they could not control him and make him the instrument of personal profit to them and to those whom they favored. Fremont had the misfortune to anticipate events. He proposed confiscation and emancipation in his Department a little too early, and was overruled. He it was who suggested the flotilla on the western waters which has done so much to open the Mississippi. The Blairs will live to be older men than they yet are, before the American people will feel towards them the deep debt of gratitude which they already acknowledge to be Fremont's due. To denounce Fremont now, at this late day, for his abolition—and this denunciation to come from an officer of the cabinet—looks amazingly like striking at the President, the great abolisher, in an underhanded and indirect manner for his bold stroke in the issuance of the Proclamation of Emancipation; a measure, it is well understood, which was opposed by Mr. Postmaster Blair, and never even yet has received his sympathy or approval. But we pass:

Mr. Blair concludes his speech as follows:

> The issues are thus made up between the President and the rebels and their foreign sympathizers, who would revolutionize our Government to create a separate Government in the South, on the one hand, and on the other hand between the President and the ultra abolitionists, who would disfranchise the southern section of our country. It is not improbable that the latter, though aiming at a different result, will be found co-operating in the end with conspirators of the South and their foreign allies. They may prefer parting with the South to partnership and equality under the Constitution.

A more infamous aspersion was never cast upon loyal men than is contained in the concluding lines of the above paragraph. It is an intimation,—nay more than an intimation; a distinct prophecy that the men now most active in quelling rebellion, the men who doubt the policy of protecting negro slavery, will yet be found joining hands with the rebels, and the foreign enemies of our government! Who are the men thus aspersed? In the field it strikes at such men as Grant, Logan, Rosecrans, Howard, McClernard and Banks; it strikes at Butler, Fremont and Cochrane; it strikes at Shepley, Andy Johnson and Joseph Holt; it strikes also at all the leading men of the North, at members of the Cabinet like Stanton and Chase; and we dare assert that it includes in its sweep more than seven-eights of the men of Maine who rolled up the recent glorious Union victory. It is a gross slander upon the masses of the North. It is a gross libel upon the most efficient men in the field — officers and soldiers — and the equally efficient men in the councils of the nation. Divested of the aid afforded by the men thus maligned by Mr. Blair, and Mr. Lincoln would be as powerless before the rebels as an infant in its nurse's arms. The men who applaud such a calumny upon the active supporters of the government in its present hour of trial, are those who are now in sympathy with the rebels. In Ohio they will be found to be the supporters of Vallandigham. In this State they supported Bradbury. All over the country they are those who carp and grumble at all earnest efforts put forth to maintain the authority of the government. We insist that Mr. Blair has maligned the nation's best friends. He has assaulted the loyal men of the country. He has, designedly or unwittingly, made his big bid for copperhead friendship; and while doubtful men — men who would sell their country for preferment or crucify liberty to uphold an infamous institution—will applaud his words, all true, loyal, patriotic men will feel sad, and consider that they have received a blow from a quarter where should have been only friends.

Letter from the State Capital.

AUGUSTA, Oct. 8, 1863.

To the Editor of the Press:

Some time ago Governor Abner Coburn was authorized to raise three "veteran" regiments of infantry and one "veteran" battery of mounted artillery. He has finally concluded, with the consent of the War Department, to substitute cavalry for the third infantry regiment and recruiting papers for this purpose will soon be issued. The regiment will be commanded by E. W. Woodman of Wilton, late of the 28th Regiment. A better selection could not have been made. Col. Woodman's experience in the 8th regiment and subsequently in the 28th have proved him to be a gentlemanly and efficient officer both in the camp and in the field. The regiment is expected to be filled up in a very short time.

The General-in-Chief of the army has authorized General Meade to transfer permanently to batteries of mounted artillery drafted and other men from volunteer infantry regiments. In this proceeding the consent of the men must in all cases be procured, and men belonging to organizations of one State will not be transferred to the batteries of another. This is as it should be. Some of the batteries in the field from this State had become so reduced in numbers that they have been reduced from six to four-gun batteries, and were allowed but two lieutenants instead of four, and the two junior lieutenants have been mustered out of service and come home. By this arrangement our batteries will get back their two guns and officers, and this most important arm of the service will be made as efficient as ever.

Positive orders have at length been received in relation to the payment of orderly sergeants' accounts, as well as those of examining surgeons. Thus at length all bills for the organization and expenses of our nine-months regiments are being paid. By addressing Capt. T. C. J. Baily, U. S. Disbursing Officer, Augusta, any one holding these bills can receive his money on them.

The following commissions were issued yesterday for the First Regiment, First Brigade, First Division of our State Militia, viz:

David Bugbee of Bangor, Colonel.

H. Martin Hall of Ellsworth, Lieutenant-Colonel.

Libbeus Oak of Garland, Major.

Official notice has been received of the following discharges:

Capt. William H. Waldron, Co. I, 16th Regment, for disability.

Capt. Hamlin T. Bucknam, Co. K, 5th Regiment, for disability.

First Lieut. Wm. Shields, Co. D, 4th Regiment, transferred to Invalid Corps.

Second Lieut. Eugene Palmer, Co. E, 7th Regiment, transferred to Invalid Corps.

Second Lieut. George C. Getchell, Co. F, 20th Regiment, to accept promotion.

Yours truly, HELIOS.

☞ An Ohio journal mentions among the prominent supporters of Valandigham for governor, the London Times, Governor Seymour, Jefferson Davis, Washington Hunt, Gen. Bragg, the Boston Courier, the Richmond Enquirer, Fernando Wood and the Charleston Mercury. With this list of the supporters, this ticket ought to secure the vote of every copperhead and every enemy of the Union in the state. No doubt it will.

Hon. Daniel Goodenow.

We are pained to record this morning the sudden death of Judge Daniel Goodenow of Alfred, which took place from apoplexy, at Alfred, on Wednesday evening last. Judge Goodenow came to this city in the early part of the week to attend to some business. On Wednesday morning he visited some of the banks and appeared, though somewhat broken, in his usual health. It may be mentioned as a pleasing coincidence, that he met at one of the banking rooms the venerable Chief-Justice Whitman, who was associated with him many years on the bench, and who was visiting Portland from his residence in East Bridgewater, Mass., on similar business. The greeting between these associates, one 70 yrs. old, the other in his 88th year, was cordial and interesting; neither anticipating that it was to be their last on earth.

Judge Goodenow was born in Henniker, N. H., in 1793, and at the age of nine years came with his father and family to this State, which was ever after the place of his residence and the scene of his labors and honors. Settling in the county of Oxford, his earlier years were spent in agricultural employments. But being of ardent temperament and of intellectual aspirations, he was not willing to devote his powers to the dull routine of a farmer's life, and he determined to seek the honors and rewards which a professional occupation promised. He therefore qualified himself by study to enter Dartmouth College. After spending some time at that institution, the war of 1812 occurring, his resources failed, and he was obliged to abandon his college course before taking a degree. He entered at once upon the study of the profession which was to furnish him with the means of subsistence and to gratify the aspirations of his ambition. At that time the celebrated John Holmes of Alfred was not only one of the prominent lawyers of Maine in full business, but a leading and ardent politician of the Democratic school, a late convert to it, and to which party Mr. Goodenow then belonged. This young man then seeking distinction both in law and politics, felt assured that this was the place for him, and he accordingly joined himself to this leader, completed his professional studies with him, and had become so important to his instructor in the management of the office business, that he was at once received as a partner in the extensive and lucrative practice which Mr. Holmes enjoyed. Mr. Holmes, in fact, had become so engrossed in politics, that his practice suffered from his frequent and protracted absences from home. At this very time Mr. Holmes was a member of the Senate of Massachusetts from York county, and had become a leader of the Democratic party, and a fearless and indefatigable supporter of Mr. Madison's war measures, in Massachusetts. He continued for the next twenty-five years in various public offices of the State and National governments. It was a most fortunate conjuncture for both master and pupil which brought these talented men together, as it relieved the one from the burdensome details of an irksome profession, while it gave opportunity to the junior for training his forensic and business powers in a large and responsible school of discipline and labor.

This pupil, most fortunately, had the ability and skill to avail himself of the advantages thus placed before him. He commenced practice in 1818, and his course from that time was onward and upward. His business extended over the county of York, with occasional engagements in other counties; he was prompt, faithful, clear-headed, and presented his cases with force and logical accuracy. He became a leader at the bar of York Co. In 1838, he was appointed by the Executive, Attorney-General of the State. In 1841, he was appointed a judge of the District Court of Maine, for the Western District, which embraced the counties of York, Cumberland, Oxford and Franklin. In this Court he was associated with Chief Justice Whitman, and held the office during the constitutional term of seven years. In 1855 he was raised to the bench of the Supreme Court, and continued faithfully and unremittedly to discharge the duties of that laborious and responsible office until the expiration of the constitutional limit in October, 1862, when he and Chief Justice Tenney laid aside the ermine of justice which they had worn unspotted for many years.

Judge Goodenow always took a deep interest in politics, in which he was well read, and had an accurate and thorough knowledge. He began life as a Jeffersonian Democrat, and by the various changes and combinations of parties, he became a National republican of the Clay school, a Whig, at last a Republican. He had been a member of the Legislature and, we believe, one year Speaker of the House. In 1820 he received from Bowdoin College the degree of A. M., and in 1860, the well merited distinction of LL. D. He had for twenty-five years been associated with the College as a faithful and devoted trustee, which office he held at the time of his death.

Judge Goodenow was twice married, first to the accomplished daughter of Mr. Holmes, by whom he had one daughter, the wife of a respected clergyman in Massachusetts, and two or three sons, the eldest of whom is the Hon. John Holmes Goodenow, a lawyer in Alfred, a well known politician, and for two years President of the Senate of Maine. Judge Goodenow's second wife was a daughter of the late Judge Dana of Fryeburg, who was the widow of the late Henry Y. B. Osgood, Esq., of Portland, by whom he has left one daughter.

Our notice of this honored gentleman, lawyer and judge would be quite imperfect if we did not allude to the singular coincidences which have taken place in the departure from earthly trials and duties of members of his family. It is scarcely a year ago that we recorded the sudden death of his brother, the Hon. Rufus Goodenow of Paris in this State, a lawyer and former member of Congress from Oxford county, and it is just a month since a younger brother, our respected fellow-citizen, Wm. Goodenow Esq., was struck down by paralysis, and his numerous friends, with sad hearts followed his remains to the silent tomb. And now again the "insatiate archer" has sped his third, fatal shaft, and we look in vain for the erect and manly form of the venerable and honored citizen whose life and useful labors are suddenly and forever terminated. W.

☞ A proposition of amendment to the Constitution of Rhode Island, to allow aliens, residents of the State, who have enlisted or volunteered, or may enlist or volunteer in any of the regiments of that State, to vote at all elections on the same terms as native born citizens, was passed upon by the voters of that State on Monday, and rejected. The objection of those who voted against the proposition was the doubtful construction of the amendment. The Providence Journal thinks an amendment carefully guarded against any double meaning, might receive the vote of a constitutional majority.

COLLISION.—The train yesterday morning on the Grand Trunk Railway was detained over an hour, in consequence of a collision between a locomotive and a freight train at Falmouth, by which one of the engines was thrown from the track and somewhat disabled. No person was injured.

Granted the existence of the curse and blight, whoever by personal influence, and example, and labor lessens its power and sets one single stake in the bounds to its spread, has in so much benefitted the age and the country.

"The hardest Blow" yet struck.

While rebel papers in the North, are laboring to disparage the importance of Rosecrans's movements in Tennessee, the rebel papers in the south take a different view of the matter and look upon the capture of that region as the severest blow yet inflicted upon the Confederacy. The following is from the Richmond Dispatch of Sept. 17th:

We understand that intelligence was received at the war Office yesterday, to the effect that Rosecrans, after having chased our forces out of East Tennessee, had fallen back to secure their prize. It is the hardest blow yet struck us since the beginning of the war. Two thirds of our nitre beds lie in thet region and a large portion of coal which supplies our foundries. It abounds in the necessaries of life. It is one of the strongest countries in the world, so full of lofty mountains, that it is not unaptly called the Switzerland of America. As the possession of Switzerland opens the doors to the invasion of Italy, Germany and France, so the possession of East Tennessee gives easy access to Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama.

The Yankees have great reason to rejoice over their conquest. It was achieved almost without shedding a drop of blood. Scarce a sprig of cypress is intertwined with Rosecrans' wreath of laurels. He had but to ask, and he received; he had but to knock, and it was opened. Everything gave way before him. The strongest position yielded to his demand. The most powerful fortresses open their doors when he says, "open sesame." The lithe loftiest mountain offers his enemies no point of resistance or support. Our army seems to have been paralized, and made no resistance at all. All they appear to have thought of was to get out of the way. It is the greatest conquest ever heard of in history. The march of Charles VIII through the length of Italy was nothing to it. It seems now that Rosecrans never meant to follow Bragg any farther than was necessary to get him out of the way. He means to hold Tennessee, and a railroad is already being made to the Blue Grass country, in Kentucky. He will then have access by rail to Cincinnati and Louisville. He will fortify all the mountain passes, and get him out who can.

This is, we repeat it, the severest blow we have yet received, and it is the heavier that we had a powerful army in front of Resecaans, which was not allowed to draw a trigger in defence of this all-important country.

MATTERS ABOUT TOWN.

Municipal Court—Oct. 8.

Thomas Corfield and Michael Landrigan, for riot and assaulting a house on Hancock street, were held in the sum of $300 each, for their appearance at the November term of the Supreme Judicial Court. Anderson & Webb for State.

MLLE CAMILLA URSO's Concert last evening, drew a very respectable audience, notwithstanding the bad weather and worse walking. We believe this young lady has not her equal on the violin, among her sex, on the face o the globe, and we go further and say that no man, unless we except Paganini, has ever drawn sweeter or more perfect tones from the master instrument. If it was the time of the singing of birds, they would flock around her, and take lessons from her. Bellini has composed the sweetest melodies ever written by any author or conceived by any musical genius who has lived in this "breathing world"—and now a woman has come upon the stage who interprets these melodies in their true spirit and excellence, and no human being has done the work better. To play as she does, and to execute such difficult passages as she did last evening, Sivori, Paganini's pupil, and one of the first violinists in the world, would shake and almost convulse every part of his body, while she stands at graceful ease, moving her arm and fingers apparently without effort and looking mildly and pleasantly over the audience. She is indeed the mistress of her instrument and a lady of remarkable musical powers. The gentlemen players performed well their parts as they always do. If they would give another concert with Camilla, sure we are the spacious hall would be crowded to overflowing.

APPARITION AND SPECTRES.—The spectres of cities and palaces, and the apparitions of Pompeii, and Egypt, and Nubia, and Balbe, may now be seen, without budging from your neighborhood, and for little more than the cost of a letter or a "hasty plate of soup." In short, we have among us a new wonder of art, called the Stereophan, whereby you may be pursuaded out of your senses for a matter of twenty-five cents, and be made to believe that you have got possession of that travelling cushion described in the Arabian Nights, which enabled one to transport himself by a wish to the utmost parts of the earth. In other words—we advise you to go and see the pictures on exhibition at the Mechanic's Hall, without losing a day. They are the best by far that have ever been produced, and not so much pictures after all, as realities. J. N.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Hon. Daniel Goodenow of Alfred, was in this city Wednesday, attending to business. He rode out home in the afternoon and at night was seized with an apoplectic fit, which proved fatal in a few hours. The deceased was a man of eminent character, and has held various offices in this State, the most important of which were Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, from 1841 to 1848, and Judge of the Supreme Judicial Courts from 1855 to 1862. An interesting sketch of his character, from our correspondent "W" will be found in another column.

HALF FARE.—We would call the attention of our readers in the country, to the advertisement of the Grand Trunk Railway, by which it will be seen that they make half fare next week (from the 14th to the 17th) on their road, as far out as Bethel, to those attending the Agricultural and Horticultural exhibition.—We understand the York & Cumberland and Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroads and steamer Daniel Webster to Bangor and intermediate stations, do the same.

☞Last performance at Deering Hall, this evening, when Mr. J. E. McDonough will appear in his great character of Rolla in the beautiful play of Pizarro, the performance concluding with Family Jars. As Mr. McDonough has created much amusement for us in the character of Mother Pluto, it will be quite a novelty to see him assuming the Peruvian Hero, and as this evening has been set for his benefit, we hope our citizens will honor him by an overflowing house.

THE HORSE RAILROAD.—We are glad to learn that the Directors of the Horse Railroad have made an amicable arrangement with Mr. Gee, proprietor of the Omnibus line, by purchasing his stock and giving him a prominent situation on the road. This is doing the honorable thing, and the many friends of Mr. Gee will be pleased to learn of it. The cars on the railroad will commence running next week. Mr. Gee's omnibus tickets will be redeemed by the railroad.

EVENING PAPERS.

Doings of the Alabama in South African Waters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

A correspondent of the Tribune, writing from Cape Good Hope, Aug. 19th, says:

"On the 28th of July the Alabama arrived on this coast, having captured six American ships from the time she left Bahia, Brazil, of which she burned the Amazonia, Talisman, Conrad, S. Gildersleeve, Anna F. Schmidt and Express.

On the 27th of July the Alabama put into Saldanha Bay, about ninety miles from this place, and nothing was heard of her until the 5th of August, when the schooner Atlas reported that she was there with about thirty prisoners on board, which Capt. Semmes desired the master of the Atlas to take to the American Consul at Cape Town. The next day the Alabama arrived at the entrance to our harbor, (Table Bay), and at the same time the American barque Sea Bride, of Boston, appeared. Instantly the people from all parts of the city rushed to the scene of the apprehended capture, which was within plain view of the shipping, and within three miles of the shore.

Immediately the Alabama bore down upon the barque and captured her, and putting a prize crew on board, she was directed to stand off and on the harbor, which she did for two or three days, when she disappeared. I understand that she is not yet burned, but is at one of the secluded harbors on this coast, where negotiations are going on for her purchase by Cape Town merchants.

After the capture the Alabama came into port, and remained here nearly four days, getting her cooking apparatus repaired. After leaving this port the Alabama went to Simon's Bay, distant twenty-three miles by land, where she remained six days.

On the 8th of August the Tuscaloosa, formerly the prize Conrad, armed with four guns, entered Simon's Bay also, where she remained as a 'war vessel,' with her original cargo of skins and wool on board, seven days. On the 16th the Georgia arrived at Simon's Bay, the Alabama and Tuscaloosa having left to cruise around the Cape of Good Hope the day preceding."

From Washington.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

The Herald's Washington dispatch states that the prize steamer Diamond left Charleston bar on the 3d inst., and brought a bearer of dispatches to the Secretary of the Navy to the 2d inst. When the Diamond left a portion of the iron-clads were engaged with the rebel batteries, and the batteries on Morris Island also appeared to be firing.

The Bureau of Deserters have picked up in the last two months 15,000 of the 88,000 deserters from the Union army. An average of 6000 per month are now brought in.

Lieut. Commander Gibson, of the U. S. gunboat Seneca, reports to the Navy Department, under date of Doboy Sound, Georgia, Sept. 24, that on the night of the 22d he sent an armed boat's crew up the Altamaha river and destroyed the Hudson Place salt works, near Darien, Georgia, entirely demolishing the boilers, engines, &c., and bringing off James H. Lockwood, the superintendent, his two children and a free negro. The other employees and two visitors fled at at the approach of the force. The works were situated within two miles of the encampment of a rebel company, whose pickets came very near the works, but they did not discover or resist the attack.

Commodore Gibson says the statements of the refugees on board the Seneca are interesting, and he thinks credible in the main. The rebel government takes a tithe of the agricultural products in live stock on hand. One hundred dollars in gold is taxed at the rate of one thousand dollars in rebel money, and one hundred dollars in silver as seven hundred and fifty dollars. They speak of smouldering disaffection to the insurgent powers, weariness of the war and longing for the old Union, as being very general throughout the State of Georgia, whereyer an opinion is whispered or dares to be outspoken.

Attack on Rosecrans' Trains.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 7.

To-days' Nashville Press says the rebels captured fifty of our wagons and one of our trains at the foot of the mountains near Anderson's Cross Roads, burning a number of them and killing about 300 horses and mules. The train was loaded with ammunition, clothing and rations. Forty of the wagons were carrying medical and military stores. About fifty sutlers' tents were also lost.

Gen. Mitchell, as soon as he learned of the crossing of the rebels, pursued them with the Union cavalry, and on Friday and Saturday killed and wounded 70 rebels, took 200 prisoners and recaptured 250 mules. On reaching Walnut Run the rebels shot two hundred mules to prevent their falling into our hands.

More Russian Vessels Expected.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

The Tribune's special Washington dispatch says:

"It is understood here, among persons who are posted, that ten or twelve more Russian vessels of war are expected to arrive at New York or some other American port within a few weeks, and it is believed in well informed quarters that they are not likely to go away very soon, but may probably winter in our harbors."

From Gen. Rosecrans—Great Battle Soon.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

A special dispatch from Cincinnati to the World says: "Correspondents report Rosecrans' army in a perfectly safe position. More reinforcements are near. Troops are constantly arriving from the West and elsewhere. The rebel cavalry cannot seriously interfere with Gen. Rosecrans' supplies. A great battle must soon be fought. Confidence is felt in the final issue."

Barbarous Outrage by Guerrillas.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 7.

Major Wileman, of the 18th Kentucky regiment, who was wounded in the battle of Chickamauga, and who lately returned home, was taken from his house in Pendleton County, Kentucky, on Monday, by a gang of guerrillas, stripped of his clothing, tied to a tree and shot. Five of the murderers were caught and brought to this city to-day.

☞Negro slavery has been greatly disturbed by the war growing out of the rebellion. The yoke rests uneasily upon African necks. The only slaves who now hug their chains and seem to like them, are the white slaves of the North—those who are willing to eat dirt for Jeff. Davis and to become the instruments of his despotic will. DeBow—the great Southern politician — has argued that negroes do not make the most tractable slaves, and he might point to the North for the proof of his assertion.

TWO DAYS

LATER FROM EUROPE.

Arrival of the Columbia at St. Johns, N. F.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 7.

The steamship Columbia, from Galway, Sept. 29, for New York, arrived here at 9 o'clock this evening.

The steamship Olympus, from New York, arrived at Queenstown on the morning of the 28th, and the City of New York, from New York on the evening of the same day.

Earl Russell made an important speech on foreign affairs, at Blair Gowerie, Scotland, during which he referred, at considerable length, to the American question. He justified England in recognizing the Confederates as belligerents, and answered some of the imputations brought by the people of the North, and particularly the recent speech of Mr. Sumner.—He also replied to the complaints of the South, in regard to the recognition of the blockade, and asserted that, although self-interest demanded that England should break it, she pursues the course of honor, as it would be infamous to break it.

He showed that the Government had not sufficient evidence against the Alabama to detain her until after she sailed, and explained the difficulties of interference in such cases.—He drew a line between ordinary vessels unequipped for war purposes, and steam rams, which are, in themselves, formed for acts of offence, and might be used without even touching the Confederate shores.

He asserted that Government was ready to do everything the duties of neutrality require, everything that is just to a friendly nation, and such as they would wish to be done to themselves, but it would not yield one jot of right to the menace of foreign powers. He complimented the Federal Government and Mr. Seward upon the fairness with which they discussed matters of difference. He denounced the efforts of those who sought to create trouble between America and Europe, and with an expression of friendship towards America, asserted that all her efforts would be to maintain peace.

Speaking of Poland, Earl Russell defended England's position, and remonstrated against that of Russia, but he did not think that England should go to war on the subject. As regards Mexico, he thought that if the Mexicans approved of what was being done for them they should be allowed to do so.

The London Times, referring to the withdrawal of Mason from England, suggests the grounds which have probably prompted the Richmond Government to address themselves at last wholly and exclusively to France. The Times infers that the withdrawal of Mr. Mason is preliminary to some action on the part of France. Slidell and Mason were always associated in men's minds, and so also were the Cabinets of Paris and London, as regards American affairs. The presence of Mason in London typifying an unsuccessful appeal to an anglo-French alliance, has no doubt been considered by the Confederates as an obstacle to Southern recognition, as it would not be a matter of surprise that one of them should hesitate to decide upon a course without the concurrence of the other. Now things have changed; one of these powers has taken a position on the American Continent, which actually enables this poor, harassed, unrecognized Confederacy to confer a favor. The South is now a near neighbor to the distant neutral State to which Slidell was sent two years ago, and is now a natural ally, with a common antagonism to the Federal power. Can it be wondered at, then, that Confederate politicians desire to free the French Emperor from any shackle that may repress the liberty of action. The appeal of the Confederates is to France alone as the protector of the Mexican Monarchy, and the bold challenger of Federal supremacy on the American continent.

The Memorial Diplomatique, speaking of Poland, denounces strongly the course of England and Austria, and speaks in a tone of strong hostility.

The Journal des Debats also points to the possibility of France being left to settle the question alone by the sword, and points out that England and France would have to pledge themselves to a friendly neutrality.

Counts Waleuski and Persigny were spoken of to succeed Baron Gros at London.

The Memorial Diplomatique believes the French Government does not contemplate any change.

From Washington—One of the Objects of the Rebellion—Arrest for Aiding Soldiers to Desert.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.

Among the letters to Jeff. Davis recently captured, is one written by Gen. Gadsden, of South Carolina, dated Mexico, as far back as 1854, when Davis was Secretary of War, developing the scheme of a great federation of the West India islands, including Cuba, to be a formidable commercial and naval power, stimulated in their advancement and prosperity by African slavery, as now existing in the Southern States, where southern planters of enterprise would find space and inducements enough to seek new homes for themselves and domestics in the most lovely domain of God's creation, and all united in harmony under one hemogeneous American system.

Military Governor Martindale to-day transferred to a Justice of the Peace a man who was several weeks ago arrested on a charge of furnishing citizens' clothes to soldiers, and inducing them to desert for the purpose of selling them as substitutes. On a hearing of the case two privates swore to the fact, when the accused was committed to jail for court martial. The penalty prescribed by the enrolment act, is a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, and imprisonment not exceeding two years nor less than six months, at the discretion of the court.

The Richmond Enquirer of to-day contains the following:

Missionary Ridge, Oct. 5.—We opened on Chattanooga at 1 o'clock A. M. from Lookout Mountain and points along our lines. Our shell exploded in the enemy's camp as well as in the city, setting fire to one house. The enemy replied briskly from Maccason Point to our mortars on Lookout Mountain and feebly from Fort Star. The firing still continues.

Missionary Ridge, Oct. 6.—The Tennessee river is rising rapidly. It has swept away the lower pontoon bridge of the enemy, and submerged the trestle bridge.

Major Mitchell, Chief Quartermaster to Gen. Longstreet's corps, died last night.

There was no firing on either side up to 11 o'clock to-day.

Charleston, Oct. 6.—An attack was made by us to-day on the frigate Ironsides, damaging her and alarming the fleet. Two of our men, including Lieut. Gassett, of the Chicowa, are missing.

For the last twenty-four hours there has been but little firing. The enemy's works on Morris Island seem to be nearly completed.

Mobile, Oct. 6.—The enemy's cavalry, 1500 strong, with four guns, attacked Col. Richardson near New Albany yesterday, but were repulsed.

Gordonsville, Oct. 7.—Three Englishmen, captured at Cedar Run to-day, and who refuse to be exchanged for Pierpont's aid, Col. Dudley, captured near Fairiax Court House, arrived here this evening.

POETRY.

The Story of Life.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

Say, what is life? 'Tis to be born
A helpless Babe; to greet the light
With a sharp wail, as if the morn
Foretold a cloudy noon and night;
To weep, to sleep and weep again,
With sunny smiles between; and then?

And then apace the infant grows
To be a laughing, puling boy,
Happy, despite his little woes,
Were he but conscious of his joy;
To be in short from two to ten,
A merry, moody Child; and then?

And then in coat and trousers clad,
To learn to say the Decalogue
And break it: an unthinking Lad
With mirth and mischief all agog;
A truant off by field and fen
To capture butterflies; and then?

And then, at last, to be a man;
To fall in love; to woo and wed;
With seething brain to scheme and plan;
To gather gold or toil for bread;
To sue for fame with tongue or pen,
And gain or lose the prize; and then?

And then in gray and wrinkled Eld
To mourn the speed of life's decline;
To praise the scenes in youth beheld,
And dwell in memory of Lang Syne:
To dream awhile with darkened ken,
Then drop into his grave; and then!

MISCELLANY.

FLIRTING.—The silliest thing a girl can do who wishes to get married is to engage in a flirtation. No girl ever made a happy union by flirting, because no man capable of making a woman permanently happy, was ever long attracted by that which is offensive to sensible and refined minds. Flirtation in a woman is equivalent to what libertinism is in a man; it is, as a writer well remarks, the manifestation of some loose principle, only restrained by the usages of the world from developing itself in a similar manner. The bare idea of this aught to preserve thousands who perhaps may fall into the error through mere exhuberance of spirits, from exposing themselves to a suspicion at which their nature must shrink.

Youth, beauty, or genuine accomplishments stand in no need of the weapon of flirtation to achieve their highest conquests: if they resort to it we may be assured that there is a concious want of desert, or a vanity which must poison all true enjoyment.

Let the young, the lovely, and the gifted, therefore, adhere to that nature which has made them what they are, and leave flirtation to those that fancy they can provoke attention without forcing themselves, by ill manners, into the unfemenine situation of being conspicuous. The despairing maiden who has courted marriage for years without ever once being courted, the silly ordinary woman who has aped the graces without success, and the ridiculous, affected, the would be accomplished, unsuspected of endowments, except in their own ideas—they may try flirtation for effect—they can hardly suffer from being a few more degrees more contemptible in the sight of men who have hitherto disregarded, and now only laugh at and despise them.

☞ A Kentucky editor advertises as follows: "Wanted" at this office, a bull-dog of any color, except pumkin and milk, of respectable size, snub nose, cropped ears, abreviated continuation—who can come when called with a raw beef-stake, and will take his pound of flesh from the man who squirts tobacco juice on the stove, aad steals our exchanges!

☞ A Sunday shool scholar at Arkon, on being requested to repeat a verse from the Bible of his own selecting, promptly gave the following:

"If any one attempts to pull down the American flag shoot him on the spot.

☞ A German being required to give a a receipt in full, after much mental effort produced the following:

"I ish full I wants no more monish. John Swackhammer."

Is constantly receiving unsolicited testimonials of the astonishing cures performed by her. Among many recently received are the following, which are commended to the notice of the afflicted. Mrs. Manchester may be consulted at

No. 11 Clapp's Block, Room No. 6.

A CASE OF SPINAL DISEASE CURED.

This is to certify that I went to see Mrs. Manchester last March with a daughter of mine troubled with spinal disease, for which she had been doctored for five years, and by a number of physicians of all kinds; and she has had twenty-one applications of electricity applied, but all to no effect; but she continually grew worse. I came to the conclusion, as the last resort, to go and see Mrs. Manchester, and did so; and to my great surprise she told me the first cause of the disease, and how she had been from time to time, which encouraged me to try her medicines. I did so, and now my daughter is able to be around the house all of the time. She also rides ten or fifteen miles without any trouble or inconvenience, and I think in a short time she will be restored to perfect health. Since my daughter has been doctoring, I have heard of a great many cases that Mrs. Manchester has cured. I think if any person deserves patronage, it is the one who tries to preserve the health of the sick and suffering; and I know that she uses every effort which lies in her power to benefit her patients.

ONE OF THE GREATEST CURES on RECORD.

MRS. MANCHESTER—Dear Madam:—Thinking a statement of my case may be of service to others similarly afflicted, I hasten to give it to you.

This is briefly my case—I was taken sick about 18 months ago with the Liver Complaint in a very bad form. I applied to four different physicians, but received no benefit until I called on you. At that time I had given up business, and was in a very bad state, but after taking your medicine for a short time I began to recover, and in two months I was entirely well, and had gained several pounds of flesh, and can truly say that by your skill I am a perfectly healthy man. Boston & Maine Depot, Portland, Me.

A REMARKABLE CURE OF A CASE OF DROPSY CURED BY MRS. MANCHESTER.

This is to certify that I have been cured of the Dropsy of fifteen years standing by Mrs. Manchester. I have been to physicians in Boston, New York and Philadelphia. They all told me that they could do nothing for me, unless they tapped me, and assured me that by tapping I could live but a short time. I had made up my mind to go home and live as long as I could with the disease, and then die. On my way home I stayed over night in Portland with a friend of mine, and told them what my mind was in regard to my disease. They finally persuaded me to go and see Mrs. Manchester. She examined me and told me my case exactly.

I was so much astonished to think that she told me correctly, that I told her that I would take her medicines, not having the least faith that they would do me any good, or that I should get the slightest relief from any course whatever; finally I took the medicine and went home. In one week from the time I commenced taking the medicine, I had over three gallons of water pass me in seven hours; and my fellow sufferers may be assured that it was a great relief to me. I had not been able to lie down in bed at night before this for two years. Now I can lie down with perfect ease. I have taken her medicine for eight months, and am as well as any man could wish to be, and no signs of dropsy. I would advise all that are sick to go and consult Mrs. Manchester, even if they have been given up by other physicians. I have sent her a number of cases of other diseases, and she has cured them also. Go and see for yourselves. I had no faith, but now my faith cannot be shaked in her skill in telling and curing disease.

A NEW DISCOVERY!

A Patent Compound for the Cure of the PILES!

By WM. CARR, Bath, Me.

AFTER suffering sixteen years, and trying everything that could be found in the market recommended for that complaint, without finding any relief, the inventor of this compound thought he would try an experiment, and finally succeeded in finding a remedy that has effected a permanent cure. After waiting four years for the purpose of ascertaining whether the cure was perfect, and not having had the slightest touch of it during that time, he then advertised it in the Bath Times for one year. Since its introduction it has proved itself to be the best remedy ever brought before the public for this complaint.

It is made of different things that grow in the fields and pastures, that are good for any one to take. It has been taken by children but three years old, and from that up to people of seventy years, and has effected a cure in almost every case. Some people are troubled with other complaints in connection with this, and he does not claim that this medicine will cure every disease that people are subject to, but those troubled with the Piles need not despair. Many who have been troubled with the Piles but a few years, have been cured by the use of a single bottle; but for those who have had the disease in their blood twenty or thirty years, it will require more.

This medicine has been taken by hundreds in the city of Bath and its vicinity, and has proved to be the BEST REMEDY ever discovered for the above complaint. It is got up expressly for the Piles, but for Inflammation of the Bowels it is second to none.

The inventor, wishing to send it to other cities and towns to let the people satisfy themselves of its healing and cleansing virtues, has been at the expense of securing a patent.

MEDICAL.

IMPORTANT TO ALL INVALIDS.

It is well known to the Medical Profession that is the VITAL PRINCIPLE or LIFE ELEMENT of the Blood. This is derived chiefly from the food we eat; but if the food is not properly digested, or if from any cause whatever the necessary quantity of Iron is not taken into the circulation, or becomes reduced, the whole system suffers. The bad blood will irritate the heart, will clog up the lungs, will stupefy the brain, will obstruct the liver, and will send a disease-producing elements to all parts of the system and every one will suffer in whatever organ may be predisposed to disease.

It is only since the discovery of that valuable combination known as PERUVIAN SYRUP that the great power of this VITALIZING AGENT over disease has been brought to light.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP

is a PROTECTED solution of the PROTOXIDE of IRON, a

New Discovery in Medicine,

that strikes at the root of disease, by supplying the blood with its Vital Principle or Life Element, Iron.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhea, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the Blood, or accompanied by Debility, or a Low State of the System.

To take medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen, and others, will be sent FREE to any address. We select a few of the names to show the character of the testimonials:

The Great Indian Remedy

FOR FEMALES.

DR MATTISON'S INDIAN EMMENAGOGUE.

This celebrated Female Medicine, possessing virtues unknown of anything else of the kind, and proving effecual after all others have failed, is designed for both married and single ladies, and is the very best thing known for the purpose, as it will bring on the monthly sickness in cases of obstructions, from any cause, and after all other remedies of the kind have been tried in vain.

OVER 2000 BOTTLES have now been sold without a single failure, when taken as directed, and without the least injury to health in any case.

☞ It is put up in bottles of three different strengths, with full directions for using, and sent by express, closely sealed, to all parts of the country.

PRICES—Full strength, $10; half strength, $5; quarter strength, $3 per bottle.

☞ REMEMBER—This medicine is designed expressly for obstinate cases, which all other remedies of the kind have failed to cure; also that it is warranted as represented in every respect, or the price will be refunded.

☞ BEWARE OF IMITATIONS! None genuine and warranted, unless purchased directly of Dr. M. at his Remedial Institute for Special Diseases, No. 28 Union street, Providence, R. I.

☞ This Specialty embraces all diseases of a private nature, both of MEN and WOMEN, by a regularly educated physician of twenty years' practice, giving them his whole attention.

☞ Consultations by letter or otherwise are strictly confidential, and medicines will be sent by express, secure from observation, to all parts of the United States. Also accommodations for ladies from abroad wishing for a secure and quiet RETREAT, with good care, until restored to health.

CAUTION.—It has been estimated that over two hundred thousand dollars are paid to swindling quacks annually, in New England alone, without any benefit to those who pay it. All this comes from trusting, without inquiry, to men who are alike destitute of honor, character and skill, and whose only recommendation is their own false and extravagant assertions, in praise of themselves. If, therefore, you would avoid being robbed, take no man's word, no matter what his pretensions are, but MAKE INQUIRY:—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in nine cases on. of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them, unless you know who and what they are.

☞ Dr. M. will send FREE, by enclosing one stamp as above, a pamphlet on DISEASES OF WOMEN, and on Private Diseases generally, giving full information, with the most undoubted references and testimonials, without which no advertising physician or medicine of this kind is deserving of ANY CONFIDENCE WHATEVER.

☞ Orders by mail promptly attended to. Write your address plainly, and direct to DR. MATTISON, as above. dec6 dawly30

During his practice he has treated thousands of cases, and in no instance has he met with a failure. The remedies are mild, and there is no interruption of business or change of diet. Dr. Hughes is in constant attendance from 8 in the morning until 10 at night, at his office, 5 Temple street. Charges moderate, and a cure guaranteed in all cases.
